Why use Oakford Technology?

- What would you do if your IT systems failed?
- Have you really thought about the consequences?

Most companies only count the costs to your business after a disaster occurs. This is why Oakford Technology takes Business IT Solutions very seriously – after all, the survival of your business may depend on it!

Oakford Technology is able to offer a broad range of IT solutions from a single personal computer system to a fully managed and maintained business solution. Using many years of experience of real world IT systems, Oakford has the knowledge and understanding to support their customers' needs and help them avoid disaster. Oakford understands that every business is different and has a wide range of requirements. Oakford provides a wide range of solutions backed by our friendly, knowledgeable and experienced engineers so that your IT systems grow and change with your needs.

Some companies are large enough to employ their own System Administrators to manage and maintain their computer systems – Oakford works with these companies in a consultancy role using our Microsoft, Citrix and Solaris trained engineers. Other companies contract us to manage and maintain their IT systems using our real world experience.

If you are installing a solution from new, upgrading your current system or would like maintenance support, then please/ be sure to speak to us first.
